Hi Professor Thomas!

I hope this email finds you well. It was such a pleasure working with you and being around your encouraging and warm energy last week in DC. I want to thank you for your time as a mentor and the effort you put in to make this year's projects successful. It was honestly one of the best experiences I've had in my life. Thank you for your patience and for being a part of team that believed in me to execute an anchor role with Charlie - I can't even explain how much it meant to me. I look forward to maintaining a network with you and sharing my updates and struggles in this career. Whenever you have the time (because I know how busy you can be) I wanted to ask you if it was fine if you can take a look at my resume and reporter reel and give me feedback especially because as a recent graduate I am currently in the search of jobs. Also if you know of any great job openings in journalism/media and of great people to connect with, I would really appreciate the share. Again, thank you so much for your time and the hard work you put into a phenomenal student project, and I look forward to meeting with you in the future again and of course at next year's convention! Also, happy early birthday and have a great vacation in Jamaica! You truly deserve it.

Best,

Senait Gebregiorgis.
